Storybook Trees: A Celebration of Reading

A love of books and reading is a lifelong treasure and adventure, young children who are read to by family and others become lifelong readers. Older children who read for pleasure develop inquiring minds that benefit them throughout their lives. Adults who have the habit of reading look back at the books they read as children with joy and pleasure. A love of books passed from generation to generation creates strong family bonds and memories that are priceless.

The Historic Odessa Foundation celebrates children's literature and a love of reading by showcasing trees decorated by community and school groups in the National Historic Register Wilson-Warner House. By exhibiting the trees in these beautiful period rooms a new and larger audience will be exposed to the preserved beauty of Odessa, its architecture, historic importance and natural charm. The exhibit will run from November 19th through December 29th, 2019 and will be open as part of Christmas in Odessa.

If your family, school or organization would like to design and decorate a tree with the theme from your favorite children's book, please fill out the following registration form and mail to the Historic Odessa Foundation, PO Box 697, Odessa, DE 19730. Deadline for registration is November 8th, 2019.
